Ford rejects bid for highway aid

Ford, having urged a new tax-cut plan tied to curbs in federal spending, rejected a Republican governor's request for more federal funds and gave him a blunt lecture on balanced budgets.

Ford, who announced plans earlier this week for what he said was "the biggest single tax cut in our history," met Tuesday with seven Appalachian state governors in Knoxville, Tenn., and immediately was confronted with a plea for funds.

West Virginia Gov. Arch Moore told Ford more federal money is needed to keep Appalachian highway projects on schedule. Ford wryly recalled that most of the governors in the room had agreed with a Southern Governors Conference resolution calling for a constitutional amendment balanced federal budgets.

Ford said, "Fellows, we can't have it both ways.'

He said the government faces federal deficits in the current fiscal year of up to $70 million, adding, "If you have back-to-back deficits of $70 billion, you're going to have more and more and more troubles in trying to finance your own state and municipal govern-

As the President was touting his new tax cut and spending curb proposal, his proposal was meeting with dour comments from Congress.

House Ways and Means Committee

Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., called Ford's plan "an impossible one."

A Ways and Means subcommittee chairman, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio ariticized Ford's proposals to Ohio, criticized Ford's proposals to reduce corporate taxes and released figures showing that 142 major corporations paid less than half the standard corporate tax rate of 48 per cent last year. Vanik said eight companies paid no taxes while 18 others paid at a rate of 10 per cent or less.

Ford proposed enactment of $28 million in permanent tax cuts for 1976 if Congress will agree to an identical cut in federal spending. He would require establishment of a $395 billion spending ceiling for the fiscal year beginning

Under Ford's $28-billion taxcut plan, individual taxpayers would receive about $2.6 billion more in tax reductions in 1976 than they did in 1975. White House tax tables show that if the plan is enacted, a family of four with an income of $15,000 would pay $287 less in 1976 taxes than it will this year. A family of four with a $20,000 income

Plastics firm to begin production in January

Officials of the Calmar Division plant Monday, Oct. 13 by the plant's perof Diamond International Corp., presently under construction in the Washington C.H. Industrial Park, today that the new plastics facility will begin operations here in early January.

A.H. Anderson, who will serve as general manager at the Washington C.H. plant, said construction of the estimated $1.2 million facility is progressing on schedule. The facility will include a 100,760-square foot plastics manufacturing plant with a separate office building, divided by a small courtyard, and a 500-car parking

Anderson said plans have been completed for staffing the skilled positions of the plastics manufacturing plant, which will employ nearly 400 persons during full poduction in late 1977. Company officials are predicting to begin operations with approximately

Construction of the plant began this summer on a 19.5-acre site in the city's industrial park. The facility is being erected by Modern Sales and Construction Co., Wilmington, and the building was manufactured at the Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H.

The plant, located at 2500 Kenskill Ave., will produce child-resistant safety closures and a general line of

The 74-year-old monarch and Empress Nagako arrived in Chicago on Tuesday, with Secret Service agents and about 1,000 police officers on guard

The royal couple began a 15-day tour of the United States on Sept. 30. They were to leave at 8 a.m. CDT today for Los Angeles and will visit San Francisco and Honolulu before returning to Japan on Monday.

Two men were arrested for carrying concealed weapons during the Chicago visit, but officials said neither man posed any threat to the emperor and his Hirohito left the luncheon with U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz for a tour of farms near Plainfield, about 35 Art Institute.

The emperor spent about 30 minutes at the 750-acre spread of Donald and Bernice Baltz and about the same amount of time at the farm owned by the Baltz' son, John, 34.

"Who'd think an emperor would come to a farm, especially our farm?" said Marianne Baltz, 33, John Baltz's

The elder Baltz, 57, clad in a work shirt and dungarees, washed the dirt off his hands to greet the emperor. "We realize it's a little more than the nextdoor neighbor coming to visit you," Baltz said, but he had promised to keep his usual attire intact for the visit.

Hirohito watched the harvesting of soybeans, one of Japan's major imports from the United States, and stood atop a combine to wave at well-wishers lined up along rural roads.

Hirohito then traveled a quarter of a mile away to the younger Baltz' 1,700acre farm, which resembles an Americana setting like a Norman Rockwell painting with a century-old house and two red barns.

would pay $264 less. Ullman's committee began work Tuesday on an assortment of bills to revise tax laws, including the Ford plan. Of Ford's demand for a spending ceiling, Ullman asked, "If the President wants a $395-billion budget, why doesn't he submit a $395 billion

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, appearing before the House panel to explain the Ford proposal, was asked by Ullman, "Are you sitting there with a straight face and saying that Congress can be expected to put a ceiling on a budget it hasn't seen, without knowing what priorities would be set — to blindly strike out with no information on the budget ... and put a tax cut in place by January?"

Ullman called such a proposal "totally preposterous," adding, "I must say I am rather shocked that the administration would propose such a

Simon argued that Congress could pledge itself to meet the ceiling, leaving details to be worked out later. He stressed that Ford is ready to veto any tax reduction plan not accompanied by a spending ceiling.

Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., said Ford had told GOP leaders that "if he has to veto 100 bills to hold down spending, he'll do it."

Ullman's criticism won the support of Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., who said imposing a spending ceiling before seeing the President's budget "is like tying infinity to zero - you get

Combined duties handled by city's sewage system

Creek

By GEORGE MALEK

A maze of pipelines installed periodically over the past 75 years presently serves as the city's waste collection system.

Originally designed to carry storm water beneath the city rather than through homes and businesses, the system now carries human waste and garbage.
In addition, it also retains its original purpose, to carry storm water. This combination of duties has resulted in the pollution of Paint Creek which is currently under attack from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

When indoor plumbing originally reached Washington C.H., drains were simply connected to the storm lines feeding Paint Creek. As increasing numbers of homes installed plumbing, the amount of waste flowing into the creek presented a problem.

The "solution" to this situation was presented during the Works Progress

First in series

Act (WPA) in the mid-1930's. Under WPA supervision, two huge interceptors were constructed to channel city sewage to a treatment plant on S. Elm Street.

Through the use of the interceptors and diversion chambers, the waste would be carried to the treatment plant while the storm water would bypass the chambers flowing into the creek.

Although theoretically sound, the system is not able to fulfill its original intent. A good deal of the sewage (especially solid waste) ends up in Paint Creek rather than the treatment plant. Unfortunately, with the number of garbage disposals increasing, the amount of solid waste being carried to the creek is also on the upsurge

In order to understand the difficulty within the system, it is important to know how the diversion chambers function. (The diagram depicts one of the city's 26 diversion chambers.)

As normal household flow approaches Paint Creek in the collecting sewer, it encounters a hole in the base of the pipe. It falls from the collecting sewer into the interceptor and is carried parallel to the creek to the treatment plant.

So that the treatment plant is not flooded with water during heavy rains, the drop-pipe to the intercepting sewer is only 10 inches in diameter.

Problems result because a good deal of the waste never reaches the end of the connecting sewer, and therefore never falls into the interceptor.

The amount of waste is so small in comparison with the size of the collecting sewer, that it moves very slowly along the pipe. Debris builds up with organisms which thrive without air under the liquid. They produce the noxious odor commonly termed "sewage." This septic waste remains in the pipe while the liquids flow over the top.

The liquids are collected by the interceptor, but the solids remain scattered along the collecting pipe.

Trapped under the flow of water, bacteria in the solid waste which would decompose and purify it drown. Thus, the solid waste becomes septic, laden pipes until washed away by a heavy flow of water during a rainstorm. The large quantities of water move at a high rate of speed and sweep the solids along.

However, at this time, only a small percentage falls down the drop-pipe at the diversion chamber. The majority is swept over the opening in a rush of water that then flows into Paint Creek. As can be seen in the diagram, only a small portion of the flow will exit in the drop-pipe when the collecting sewer is filled with water.

The only solutions offered are to either collect and treat all of the rain water in addition to the sewage or to separate the sewer lines from the storm sewer.

Two major obstacles block the first alternative. The first is the cost. A much larger treatment facility would be required, and the annual operating and solids settle to the bottom of the costs of treating all water would be extremely high. Secondly, by leaving the present lines to carry a combination of storm water and septic sewage, their "life expectancy" is greatly diminished.

Some of the lines in the combined sewer were laid at the turn of the century. They were brick sewers which are constantly deteriorating. Although no structure can last forever, the septic sewage in the lines is hurrying the process.

The stagnant waste produces hydrogen sulfide gas, sulphuric acid and ammonia. All three, especially the first two, are corrosive materials which eat away at the mortar in the Orville Dixon, superintendent of city sewage treatment facility, said both iron and cement are vulnerable to the action of hydrogen sulfide and sulphuric acid.

To emphasize what these materials are doing to the sewer lines, he noted that the metal ladders in the city's manholes have almost disappeared over the years. In order to enter many of them, workmen must take along their own ladder.

With the mortar eaten away, the brick sewer lines are beginning to collapse. A good deal of repair is necessary in the near future regardless

PUCO standards, image change eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The "political image" of Ohio's rate making Public Utilities Commission would be diminished under recommendations contained in a report almost ready for state lawmakers. Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71

Youngstown, chairman of a joint committee which has studied the commission and its functions since April, released Tuesday an outline of the recommendations to be presented to the legislature Oct. 15. Many of the proposals, which involve procedures for having the utilities justify rate increases, were released earlier. But the "final official meeting" of the ad hoc panel dealt considerably with what the chairman called the state agency's "political image." The Youngstown lawmaker said he is asking for a requirement under which the threemember, appointed commission would have to adopt a code of ethics similar to the one that currently limits the political activity of Ohio's judges.

Members of the commission, under present law, are appointed to six-year terms by the governor, subject to approval of the Senate. The committee proposed no change in that procedure. but Carney said the commission "needs to do something to put more emphasis on professionalism.

Along that line, the committee called in another recommendation for the commission staff to be qualified for positions only after the successful completion of a Civil Service examination that would be prepared by the Department of Administrative Services.

On a motion by Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, a minority member of the Joint Select Committee on Energy, existing employes would not be exempt from the examination. Carney concurred in the motion, saying "the commission is no place for partisan patronage."

GRAFFITI 4 DOG

Additionally, the joint committee urged that the public utilities be prohibited from including their contributions to political "causes" (they are banned from contributing to candidates) in their calculations of rate base expenses. Instead, any such contributions to a political cause—a state bond issue was cited as an example-would have to be the shareholders.

Some other recommendations, including higher pay for commissioner and hearing examiners, were left for the pursuit of standing committees in the legislature that deal with energy and related matters. A survey of other comparable states showed the commission and staff is about half way down on a list of 11 states in the amount they receive in salaries, said Roger Sullivan, the committee's staff director. The committee's general recommendation is that the standing committees consider increases of about 25 per cent. Commission Chairman C. Luther Heckman and Commissioner Sally Bloomfield each receive $26,500 a year in salary, while Commissioner David C. Sweet, last in seniority, draws

Hearing examiners begin at about $14,000, but fall behind their counterparts in other states in two or three

Ford not doing

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford, defeated in his battle with Congress over child nutritional programs, is having a higher per-centage of his vetoes overridden than any chief executive since Andrew Johnson served in the White House votes to enact a $2.75-billion nutrition bill over the President's objections marked the seventh time in 14 months that Congress has overridden a Ford more than the needed two-thirds, and the 79 to 13 Senate vote was 17 more than necessary, with Republicans breaking ranks to contribute heavily to vetoed 39 bills. The seven successful overrides give the heavily Democratic Congress a score of 18 per cent. Woodrow Wilson, overridden on six of 44 vetoes, is next highest in the post-Johnson era with about 14 per cent.

Unless Ford and Congress can agree on spending cuts, Ford may get a chance to veto a lot more bills. Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill., says Ford is adamant on cutting spending. He quoted Ford as promising that "if he has to veto 100 bills to hold down

Johnson, a Republican, vetoed 29 bills during his presidency from 1865 to 1869. Congress overrode him 15 times, a score of more than 50 per cent and by far the worst presidential performance in the nation's history.

Since then, virtually all presidential vetoes have stuck. One reason is that in most cases, Congress and the White House have been controlled by the same party.

By comparison, Congress overrode 12 of President Harry S. Truman's 250 vetoes, or about 5 per cent. Truman was a Democrat.

Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt, who served a record 12 years in the presidency, vetoed a record total of bills - 635. Congress overrode him only nine times, or about 1 per cent of the Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower vetoed 181 bills in eight years, and Congress only overrode him twice, also about 1 per cent. Democrats John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson vetoed 21 and 30 measures respectively between 1961 and 1969 without ever losing. Richard M. Nixon, battling Democratic congresses, vetoed 43 bills in 51/2 years and lost five times or about 12 per cent of his vetoes. Tuesday's action marked the third time in recent weeks Congress has enacted a bill expanding social program into law over Ford's veto.

The other two were bills covering a variety of federal health programs and the appropriations measure for the government's education programs.

City's sewers

of any action taken on the proposed sewer project, but the longer these lines carry septic sewage, the more extensive the repairs will be.

If these lines carry only rain water, the deterioration should come to almost

The same is true of cement lines installed in the mid-1930s and early 1940s. While cement lines are still installed today, they are of a much better quality than those used 35 years

Constructed by pouring cement into molds at the work site, these lines did not cure uniformly. Weak spots are especially susceptible to the corrosive liquids and gases.

Cement pipe installed at present is formed at manufacturing plants and cured completely before being transported to the construction site.

More important than the quality of the concrete, is the type of material carried in the line. If only storm water or non-septic sewage is carried in concrete, the lines can last indefinitely.

THE HEALTH hazards of allowing septic sewage to flow into Paint Creek have been widely discussed. However, few are in a position to know better than Dr. William E. Covert, Fayette County health commissioner.

Dr. Covert suggests hazards, but none that are likely to leave Washington C.H. a ghost town. In those areas where untreated water from streams and rivers is used for drinking and bathing, the dangers are great, however, this is not the case in Washington C.H. or in most of the nation.

Here the water used in homes is treated chemically to insure cleanliness. Although polluted water may be more expensive to purify, there is no serious danger.

Only those who came in direct contact with polluted water would likely be affected, he said. A child playing in or near Paint Creek could be infected, but even in these cases, his life would not be in any grave danger. A severe stomach ache or diarrhea could result, Dr. Covert explained, but it would probably pass in a few days.

Loss of recreational facilities and damage to the environment are more realistic hazards, he continued.

Heavy pollution has been prominent throughout the Scioto River basin area. It has destroyed wildlife, ruined the recreational value of many waterways. and marred the asthetic value of the land.

The proposed solution to pollution of Paint Creek, deteriorating storm sewers, obnoxious odors discoloration of homes by hydrogen sulfide is to separate the storm and sewer lines. In addition, the design of the proposed lines is such that they are to carry the sewage to the treatment plant before they become septic by increasing the speed of flow to a new facility.

The next article in this series will examine the means by which the new system proposes to solve these problems.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices staged a narrow advance today led by glamors and blue chips, and apparently helped by continuing hopes for lower interest rates.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 2.92 to 819.43 Advances topped declines by a three to two margin on the New York Stock Exchange Stock buying appeared to be spurred by a growing belief the Federal Reserve has decided to ease up on the money supply and bring interest rates lower. That belief helped power a 35.50point rally in the three sessions prior to Tuesday's 8-point decline.

Champion Spark Plug, the Big Board volume leader, added 1/8 to 91/2.

On the American Exchange, the market value index was up 0.30 to 84.01.

Ford says he never tried 'pot'

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford is set to hold separate meetings with his Cabinet and vice president today following a day-long visit to Knoxville, Tenn., where questions about marijuana and security arose.

From the security point-of-view, Ford had a relatively quiet day Tuesday in Knoxville, where his only appearance in crowds came at the secure Air National Guard facility area at McGhee-Tyson Airport. Ford traveled to Tennessee to attend a White House regional conference.

One family matter arose during a press conference where Ford was asked to comment on the recent disclosure by his 23-year-old son, Jack. that he had smoked marijuana.

The President said he himself had never smoked marijuna but refused to condemn his children for any of their personal activities so long as they are honest with their parents and "give us an opportunity to express our views. "Everybody in our family tried to be frank and honest with one another and we brought our children up to be completely honest in their relations

"I can disagree with what some of our children do, but as long as they are honest and give us an opportunity to express our views, I don't think I should go any further.'

Harold Howe II, who held the top education post from 1965 to 1968, also said Tuesday that adults should be allowed a year or more of education

Speaking at a four-day conference sponsored by the Washington Jouralism Center, Howe, now a vice president of the Ford Foundation, said that 16 years of U.S. education starting at age 6 and ending at 21 - is a luxury no other country has.

"People get fed up with classrooms after being in them for 16 years," he said, adding that it would be preferable for adults to be allowed a year of formal education at government expense when they are more mature and in a better position to appreciate it.

Howe also said he suspects television is responsible for the decline in national test scores among students. "No one knows why the scores are going down," he said. "But we're now seeing a generation that has been

> In its earlier recommendations, the committee said the commission should clamp tighter controls on use of the fuel adjustment clause, and that RCN should be replaced by an original cost formula.

Opinion And Comment

Gross misuse of tax data

There seems to be no end to the series of disquieting relevations about federal agencies' improper use of their powers. The latest disclosure fleshes out earlier reports of Internal Revenue Service collaboration in using tax return data as leverage against certain groups and individuals.

It now appears that the infamous Special Services Staff of the IRS carried on its rolls the names of more than 11,000 organizations and individuals. About half of the names, we are told by Sen. Frank Church, were supplied to IRS by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Others were supplied by the CIA.

A passage from an IRS memorandum about the Special Services Staff is instructive. It was intended as a "special compliance group. . . to receive and analyze all available information on organizations and individuals promoting extremist views and philosophies." The import of this is plain: the IRS was to provide information from tax returns which the FBI and the CIA could use in one way or another against persons and groups whose opinions they found suspect or not in conformance with the official line.

The undertaking has its ludicrous aspects. Those 11,000 names were not all wide-eyed radicals consumed with a yen to bomb the White House; far from it. They included United States senators and representatives, civil rights leaders, well known writers and such reputable organizations of long standing as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the American Library Association, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Ford Foundation. In short, a ludicrously mixed bag that makes the federal agencies involved appear as much silly as devilish.

On second thought, far more devilish than silly. For what we have here is a concerted, sustained attempt, however inept, to turn confidential tax data against those who supplied it to the government as the law requires. The program was abolished by IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander a few months after he took office, to his great credit. Congress should take steps to assure that nothing of the kind can ever again be set into motion.

ning, but there is a hope in it beyond the immediate results. In his nine months in office the governor is credited with initiating four principal pieces of legislation that show the balance between freedom and restraint.

The penalty for possession of marijuana was reduced to a fine of $100, thereby eliminating the prison sentences that destroyed the lives of many of the young. Under a second law, consenting adults were no longer subject to criminal prosecution for acts committed in private. This removed the threat of blackmail and police intimidation held over the state's homosexual population.

These were libertarian measures meant to remove penalties long since outgrown and one reason for clogged courts and overcrowded prisons.

Two other laws were on the opposite side of the scoreboard. One requires a mandatory prison sentence for a crime committed with a gun. The other calls for mandatory prison for heroin pushers. Law-enforcement officers believe they will soon result in scaling down the crime rate.

Brown's emergence has come as a surprise to many and particularly on the right. They had seen him as vaguely a liberal with little positive identity. In a week here in the state, I have listened to independents and conservatives praise him. They believe he is showing the promise of a career beyond the boundaries of the state.

Some new admirers are skeptical of the boomlet promoting him for a place on the national ticket in 1976. Too early, they say. Let him carry forward what he has begun and run for a second term as governor. In 1980 he will be 42 and given continuing momentum a leading contender for the highest office in the land.

His youth is one of his principal attractions. With this goes a style spurning the shiny black limousines and the other perquisites of high office. He is exploring the potentials of Zen, Yoga and the other experiments that have captivated many young.

Against the background of four years in a Jesuit seminary when he was studying for the priesthood, this is a remarkable blend of old and new.

On the national scene the dilemma of the Democrats is a flock of candidates who have been around for a long time. In many ways Hubert Humphrey may be the best qualified and most experienced man for the office. But to mention his name with the young is to draw a groan, "What! Humphrey again.

Only a bold statistician would guess at the proportion of the young who have been turned off in one degree or another. At one extreme a small minority is given over to bringing down the system by any means including crime and violence.

The bank robberies plotted and, in some instances carried out, by these far out extremists bear a resemblance to the Russian revolutionaries, one was Stalin, who prior to 1914 got money for their violent ends by this means.

In the middle ground are those who seek escape in communes, the simple life, Zen, meditation, spurning the complexities and obligations of a highly organized society. Except in the fervor of the antiwar movement over Vietnam, theirs is for the most part a quiet

It seems to this observer that if there is one overriding priority, it is to try to rekindle the belief of the young. It may be impossible. Certainly for the tiny minority given to crime and violence it is out of the question.

Much of the rhetoric being cranked up for the bicentennial is a dusty answer out of a past which is ancient history. Essential is the demonstration by the young and for the young that the system is not hopelessly locked into the rigidities of another day.

This Jerry Brown has begun to show. He is of a generation quite apart from the 60-year-olds who dominate the scene in Washington. If he can win the allegiance of his own kind, or at least all but those totally alienated, we shall have reason to be grateful to him.

Election law loopholes seen

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The yearold Ohio Elections Commission wants to tighten up Ohio's campaign finance laws to reduce the possibility that the Ladies Aid Society might go to jail while unscrupulous politicians go free.
Nolan W. Carson, Cincinnati attorney and commission chairman, said that is a far fetched but technical possibility under ambiguities and loopholes in the

The commission has unanimously recommended some wording changes in the law to the General Assembly. More changes will be recommended, he

The proposals result from a year's working experience with the present law, a period which covered the 1974 elections.

One proposal would exempt small roups from the requirement that they file a campaign finance report. Carson said that proposal resulted from an experience with a rural, smalltown women's club.

'They had a meeting and took up a collection," he said. "They got $12, and they contributed it to a candidate.

'That candidate's committee report showed a $12 contribution from this little club. The board of elections noted that the club had not filed a finance report and cited them for a violation.

"We got a very poignant letter saying they had learned their lesson," Carson said, "that they'd never again make a contribution to a political candidate.

'We're concerned that we're driving people away from participation," he

At the same time, he said, an apparent loophole allows politicans to accept large cash contributions although donors are criminally liable for making them.

Carson said that situation cropped up in Mansfield with a dentist who gave $300 cash to a mayoralty candidate. He said in that case, the candidate returned the money when the $100 limit was pointed out by the commission.

But technically, he said, the can-didate apparently could have legally kept the money, leaving the dentist open to criminal prosecution for making the contribution. Carson said the commission would like to see both the contributor and candidate held liable in such cases.

The commission also is asking a 30day "dead" period before elections during which it will not investigate or decide on complaints of unethical campaigning.

He said that would prevent a candidate from using the commission's quasijudicial proceedings as a forum for smear charges in the closing days of the campaign.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the Spanish mission at San Francisco was founded. On this date:

In 1871, the Great Chicago Fire was touched off in Mrs. O'Leary's barn. In 1903, the United States and China signed a commercial treaty.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was indicted for murder in the death of the infant son of Charles Lindbergh. In 1918, World War I hero Sgt. Alvin York killed 20 German soldiers in the Argonne Forest in France.

In 1945, President Harry Truman announced that the secret of production of the atomic bomb would be shared only with Britain and Canada. In 1970, the Soviet writer, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, was awarded the Nobel for removal of his gall bladder. Five years ago: Floods caused severe damage in northern Italy after a night of storms, and 16 persons were reported dead.

Prize for literature. Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson underwent successful surgery

One year ago: The Franklin National Bank in New York was declared in-solvent in the largest bank failure in American banking history.

Today's birthday: Black activist Jessie Jackson is 34 years old. Thought for today: I was seldom able to see an opportunity until it had ceaased to be one — Mark Twain, American humorist, 1835-1910. Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, a meeting of George Washington's general officers at Cambridge, Mass. agreed that the new American army should include more than 20,000 men, enlisted for a one-year

McEwen reviews assembly action

The Ohio House of Representatives is recessed until the third week of October. This column continues a series of articles reviewing action taken in the first session of the 111th General Assembly.

Inflation, increased awaremess of personal health needs, and the so-called "Marcus Welby syndrome" have contributed to a growing conviction among many legislators that every citizen is entitled to quality health care at reasonable cost. Over forty bills have been introduced in the legislature relating to the quality, cost, and availability of basic medical services for Ohioans. Of these, eleven have received much consideration, while only eight have passed both the House and Senate.

Efforts to provide Ohio physicians with medical malpractice insurance caused some of the sharpest controversy in the legislature thus far. Malpractice insurance rate increases of up to 300 per cent per year led strikes by physicians in California, Illinois, New York, and some parts of Ohio. At the same time it was becoming harder for physicians — particularly those in high-risk specialities — to find malpractice insurance at any cost because underwriters were not making enough profit in Ohio to stay in

Of the bills and resolutions introduced to deal with this problem, only Sub. HB 682, an administration-backed measure, received final approval and went into effect in late July. It addresses the legal rights and obligations of patient, provider of medical services (physician or hospital), and malpractice insurers.

Sub. HB 682 specifies a consent form for medical treatment which provides that the patient has been fairly and fully informed of and understands known risks involved in that operation or service. It establishes an arbitration procedure for out-of-court settlement of malpractice claims to reduce legal costs as a factor in providing malpractice insurance. Both parties in an arbitration case retain the ultimate right to a trial should either one refuse the arbitration board's award.

Limits on the award procedure include a maximum of $250,000 for general damages not involving death, and a four year period in which to file a malpractice claim. Admissable court testimony by members of the medical profession is restricted to physiciansurgeons and osteopath-surgeons licensed in any state and which devote at least 34 of their professional time to clinical practice or instruction in a medical school.

A newly created State Medical Board appointed by the Governor and composed of seven medical doctors, one osteopath, and one lay representative may review, suspend, or revoke physicians licensed to practice in Ohio.

insurance premiums, unethical conduct, etc. Beginning January 1, 1977, physicians must apply for recertification every three years on applications mailed by the State Medical Board. Recertification costs $50 and requires at least 150 hours of continuing education certified by the Ohio State Medical Association. Malpractice insurer responsibilities are provided for through mandatory participation in the State Insurance Department's Joint Underwriting Association (JUA). The JUA is a "risk pool" which spreads the cost of malpractice awards among all underwriters. To maintain a sound financial basis for the JUA there is a policy surcharge of $250 for individual physicians and $1500 for hospitals.

A number of bills seek to ensure the availability of primary health care through increasing educational op-portunities for medical students. Sub. HB 943 provides a so-called "fifth pathwas" course of clinical instruction of at least one Ohio medical school for Ohioans who have graduated from foreign medical schools, but lack the clinical experience necessary to be licensed in Ohio. Amended HB creates a College of Osteopathy at Ohio

The biennial budget (HB 155) specifies that surplus funds in the Ohio Instructional Grant account may be used for financial aid to nursing school students. Two other bills (SB 9 and HB 121) seek to establish a more formal system of financial aid for nursing school students.

Under the terms of HB 114, now before the House Committee on Education, medical and osteopathic students who are residents of Ohio could contract for state financial assistance through an Ohio Medical School Loan Commission. The loan would be repaid through practice or internship in a part of the state determined to be an "area of critical medical need." In this manner medical students assisted by the state would in turn help balance the state's primary health care delivery system.

SB 255 creates an Emergency Medical Services Board appointed by the Governor to prepare a statewide plan for regulating emergency medical services during disasters, and to adopt regulations prescribing standards for personnel, equipment, and operation of ambulance services

The Board is empowered to establish standards for: training and qualification of ambulance personnel; qualification of ambulance personnel; design, equipment, and supplies for emergency vehicles; the number and types of people on such vehicles; and the type of communications systems emergency vehicles may use.

Certification provided for by the Board would be done by the state Health Director. The bill also creates an Ambulance Service and Personnel an Ambulance Service and Personnel Advisory Board to advise and recommend regulations to the Emergency Medical Services Board prior to public notice and hearings.

Charles Ruff new Watergate prober

WASHINGTON (AP) Ruff's law school students gave him high marks and so did Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, who chose the young professor as the fourth and possibly last special Watergate prosecutor.

"Patient, helpful, respectful of students," was the way Ruff was described by the Georgetown Law Weekly, the student newspaper of the Georgetown University Law School where Ruff teaches three courses.

The student appraisal, part of the newspaper's evaluation of some faculty members as the fall semester opened, said Ruff, 36, "got high marks from last year's students."

Ruff takes over late this month as head of the Watergate prosecution force, now diminished in strength to two other attorneys and a handful of employes as the major investigative effort winds down.

Ruff succeeds Henry S. Ruth, who is leaving after a year as the special prosecutor for a job with the Urban Institute in Washington

In an interview after his appointment was announced Tuesday, Ruff said he will devote "a substantial chunk of time to the prosecutor's office" during his first few months on the job.

although he will continue as a full-time faculty member at the law school.

The part-time prosecutor will be in charge of presenting the government's case in the appellate court and possibly the Supreme Court as major Watergate figures such as former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman challenge their convictions and prison sentences for Watergate crimes.

He also will supervise investigative matters yet to be completed.

Ruff said he's making no guesses about how long it will take to finish the work — "I'm in for as long as it's necessary."

Levi said he has Ruff's "commitment that he will devote as much time as is necessary to discharge his duties as special prosecutor."

A Cleveland native and a graduate of Swarthmore College and Columbia Law School, Ruff is no stranger to the Watergate prosecution.

DAR luncheon guests

A "guest day" bicentennial luncheon was observed by the Washington Court House Daughters of the American Revolution in the fall motif decorated dining room of White Oak Grove Methodist Church Monday afternoon, when 45 members and 11 guests were present. A delicious luncheon was served by women of the church.

Mrs. Harold Slagle, chapter Regent, called the meeting to order according to the DAR ritual, Mrs. Gilbert Adams, flag chairman, led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag and National Anthem was sung by the group, accompanied by Miss Mabel Briggs at the piano. Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, chaplain, gave devotions and Mrs. Willard Bitzer read the President General's Message from the current National DAR magazine. Mrs. John Sagar, National Defense chairman, gave a most interesting and informative article on "the teaching of American History in the public schools, and the movement away from history.

In the absence of the American Music Chairman, Mrs. Howard Perrill introduced the Cecilian Double Trio and their beautiful patriotic "Ballad for Americans" Cantata which was enjoyed and appreciated by all.

Mrs. Slagle introduced two of the local chapter members as state officers: Mrs. Deane Powell, state treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Ellis, state registrar. She also introduced the Board of Management of the chapter. Guests introduced were Mrs. Smith Mace, Mrs. Glenn Davis, Mrs. Orville Jenkins, Mrs. Mary Chitty, Miss Elizabeth McDonald, Mrs. I. D. Pumphrey, Mrs. Homer Garringer, Mrs. Willard Rutledge, Mrs. Alice Bush, Mrs. Dewey Sheidler, and Mrs. John Caplinger

Mrs. Norman DeMent, guest speaker and state chairman of Bicentennial, was introduced by first vice regent Mrs. Perrill. Mrs. DeMent gave a most interesting and inspiring talk concerning, "People, Places and Things," of the Bicentennial, and all the plans of the DAR the last few years leading up and including 1976.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Vinton Smith, Mrs. Gary Smith, Mrs. Mary Glenn, Mrs. Walter Parrett, Mrs. Millard Weidinger, Mrs. Heber Deere, Mrs. Howard Stewart, Mrs. Robert Coffman, Mrs. Marcus Prosch and Mrs. Loren Hynes.

Class plans bazaar Nov. 7

Mr. Eli Craig conducted the meeting of the Golden Rule Class when the group met in the Bloomingburg Methodist Church recently. Reports of the recent Fish Fry and Hog Sale were heard, and final plans for the church bazaar for Nov. 8 were completed. The bazaar will begin at 10 a.m. with a luncheon served at noon.

Rev. and Mrs. Harold Messmer presented a skit entitled "A Fish Story," and Mr. Craig read the 100th

Projects announced by Gamma

The October meeting of Gamma Chapter of Phi Beta Psi was held in the home of Mrs. Jim Kirk. Preceding the business meeting, Mrs. Gilbert Biddle of Bloomingburg spoke on her hobby of making corn husk crafts. Her display of wreaths, flowers, trees, shadow boxes, and dolls was most entertaining, as was her demonstration of corn husk dollmaking.

President Mrs. Jim Cunningham called the meeting to order when it was announced that the Bloomingburg Christmas Walk will be held Nov. 15. The 1975-76 budget, presented by budget chairman Mrs. Bill Hendren, was approved.

Among the charities monies this year are the National Project Fund (Cancer Research), Community Chest, Birth Defects, Heart Fund, Crippled Children, Buckeye Girls' State, American Field Service, and a scholarship to a deserving student at either Miami Trace High School or Washington High School. Also, all proceeds from the Country Crafts for Cancer are donated to the local Cancer Society. The sorority will be selling two-year pocket planning calendars, and the pledges will be selling Bicentennial candles. The merchandise has arrived and was distributed at the meeting.

Following discussion on plans for the year, the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were served to members and pledges by Mrs. Kirk and assisting hostesses Mrs. Ralph Cook and Mrs Sue Cleary.

Chicken is good eating any time of the year, according to a consumer survey conducted by the National Broiler Council. While a sprinkling of votes were given each to fall, winter, spring and summer when asked what the family considered to be the "chicken-eating season" an overwhelming majority of those polled checked "all equal" as their favorite time to eat chciken.

Marriage vows exchanged in St. Colman

Miss Jeanne Marie Gad became the bride of Jeff L. Downs Sept. 20. The Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly performed the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Gad of 607 Lamar Court, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Downs of 811 S. Main St. in St. Colman Catholic Church.

Vases filled with gladiolia, car-nations and rainbow colored asters graced the altar, and nine candelabra entwined with emeralds and California ivy completed the setting. The pews were marked with leatherleaf and ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown with circle skirted in organza. Venice lace trimmed the flared cuffs. The bodice had U-shaped open neckline and lace accents. The train was chapel-length, and the finger tip lace edged mantilla matched the dress. She carried cascade of white roses, California ivy with bridal picot ribbon.

Matron of honor Mrs. Tommy Coe, sister of the bride, wore a halter dress of yellow polyester print with matching long sleeves and tie front jacket. Miss Jacquei Corron of Xenia, maid of honor, and cousin of the bride, and bridesmaids Miss Dianna Tuvell of Washington C.H. and Miss Debbie Peterson, Rt. 1, Frankfort, wore gowns like the other attendants, in alternating colors in pink and yellow. Each carried a fireside basket of daisies, miniature carnations, rainbow asters and babies'

Joseph A. (Joe) Downs served as best man for his twin brother. The groomsmen were David, and Thomas Downs, brothers of the groom, and Bruce Ream. Seating the wedding guests were Rex Emrick of Mount

Sterling, and Jay Hyer of New Holland. Mrs. Gad chose for her daughter's wedding a turquoise floor-length gown with silver accessories, and Mrs. Downs wore a pink floor-length gown also with silver accessories. Each wore a wrist corsage of mixed flowers. The grandmothers wore white carnation

Hostesses for the reception held in Mahan Hall were Miss Sandy Merritt of Leesburg, Mrs. Bruce Ream, Mrs. Thomas Downs and Mrs. Regina Justice of Washington C.H. The tables were centered with candles encircled with leather leaf and flowers. The bride's table held a large flower arrangement and the cake was encircled with greenery, rainbow asters and babies' breath.

By The Associated Press Rain is returning to Ohio after an absence of five nights. Just before daybreak, radar showed rain in southwestern counties west of Portsmouth and almost as far north as Dayton.

The rain was spreading north at about 20 miles per hour. By late afternoon, most sections were expected to receive at least a little rain, and it will continue intermittently through

The sky remained clear through most of the night, with the clouds extending only a little way in advance of the rain. Early morning temperatures ranged from the low 40s to the upper 50s.

Interest rates big question

NEW YORK (AP) — There's no need to search for the mechanisms that will be determining interest rates over the next few months. Just keep your eye on Uncle Sam's Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board. That's what the stock market is doing, and probably no institution in America is more sensitive to the direction of money costs. If interest rates drop, the yield on stocks looks

The big, 18.66-point surge in the Dow Jones industrial average last Friday was attributed largely to expectations that the Fed would begin easing up on the money supply and permit interest rates to fall.

But, as is often the case, the market sometimes becomes overly optimistic. There is no assurance the Fed will let more money flow into the economy. More important perhaps, there are few indications that Uncle Sam won't be competing harder than ever for funds.

This isn't good news for those who seek lower rates. Treasury borrowing puts great upward pressure on the entire market. And the outlook now is for increased Treasury borrowing over the next few months.

Treasury officials have raised their estimates of cash requirements in the second half of the year from $41 billion to about $44 billion to $47 billion, with $10 billion of it expected to be raised this month.

Lionel D. Edie & Co., the economic consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the brokerage house, notes also that federal agencies, which have been essentially out of the market much of the year, will be net borrowers in the fourth

Adding to the pressure in the money markets, and consequently to interest rates, will be a seasonal rise in demands for credit by businesses and

"With this confluence of demands, increases in rates could be subsays Carol Stone, senior economist for Edie, although some of the potential increase could be muted by an easier Federal Reserve money

The Edie economists nevertheless expect the prime interest rate to rise about one-half point between now and the end of the year, putting it in a range of 8.25 to 8.34 per cent.

The longer-term outlook is considerably better, beginning right after the turn of the year. Private demands for credit generally drop at that time, and Treasury plans might also.

during the opening months of next year and into next summer," says Edie. It estimates that short-term rates,

"Interest rates are likely to decline such as the prime, could fall by as much as a full percentage point in the first quarter. Long-term rates also might drop by that much, according to the projections. If this scenario unfolds it would suggest to some observers that the stock market isn't, after all, overly optimistic. The market anticipates; it looks ahead, foretelling events, some say, by six months or more.

However, the market also cannot ignore short-term activities of the market place, especially when that activity is in the form of higher interest rates over the next couple of months.

Judge raps Clark talk

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge here has reprimanded former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark for commenting on the civil damages trial stemming from the Kent State University shootings, but the judge dropped contempt of court charges against Clark.

U.S. District Court Judge Don J. Young charged Clark with a "striking lack of sensitivity" for violating a gag rule barring lawyers in the case from Clark said in his defense that he never had been hired by either side, although he had attended pretrial conferences with lawyers for the shooting victims.

Company's distribution method outlined at Rotary Club meet

The method of distribution of Mac The method of distribution of Mac Tools, Inc. products was outlined for members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club during the regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

Ted Kibbey, sales manager at the plant's headquarters in Washington C.H., told Rotarians that the distribution of the company's 8,000 different products is handled through different products is handled through independent distributors selling from trucks stocked with the tools. The distributors call on service stations and garages selling directly to the mechanics who use them.

Kibbey explained that a distributor becomes an independent businessman and operates under the policies formed by the company.

The distributor, according to Kibbey, virtually has a store on wheels. Many of the company's 8,000 products are neatly displayed in bins, on racks and on carpeted shelves in the vans which are leased by the distributors.

Kibbey said that the direct marketing distributorships for the tools is the only outlet for the company's products.

During the past 10 years, the company has experienced an 800 per cent increase in sales. The independent distributors have grown from 250 to more than 1,000 during the 10-year period.

The average retail inventory inside each of the trucks is worth $15,000, Kibbey said.

Besides offering a complete line of hand tool products, Kibbey said other factors in the company's success include special promotions which represent large savings to customers and an extensive sales-service organization which works directly with the distributors. The company receives an average of four new distributors per week and a district sales manager then spends one week with the distributor in an attempt to acquaint him with the geographical area to which he is assigned.

Kibbey said the natural gas pinch is creating problems for the Washington C.H. plant since it is one of the largest users in the area. However, during the past two years the company has been converting many of its operations to electricity, he said.

The company is also adapting to the metric measurement system since by 1980 all auto manufacturers will be using the metric system almost exclusively in their measurements.

Mac Tools, Inc. was founded in Sabina in 1938 under the name Mechanics' Tool and Forge Co. The first operation was in a rented garage with a two-man labor force consisting of the president and secretary of the Today, 500 persons are employed at the Washington C.H. and Sabina plants and the company ranks as the second largest independent hand tool manufacturer in the nation. Most of the manufacturing operation is done in the Washington C.H. plant while the Sabina factory handles forging operations.

The meeting was conducted by club president William E. Williams and Lee Kraus arranged the program.

During the meeting, Alan Yeoman, who is associated with Yeoman Radio and Television, Clinton Avenue, was accepted as a new member. He was sponsored by Williams.

Visiting Rotarians were Ralph Ritts of Mount Sterling and Darrell French of Wilmington. Leroy Barton was a guest with Richard Whiteside. Bob Spangler of Miami Trace High School was a student guest.

Cancer society annual meet attended by local delegates

Four delegates of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society attended the 30th annual meeting of the Ohio Division of American Cancer Society last weekend in Columbus.

Attending the meeting which marked the close of the most successful fundraising year in the division's history were Mrs. L.C. (Sonny) Johnson, Mrs. Roy Coe, Mrs. Robert Barber, unit executive director, and Mrs. J. Talmadge Taylor, public information chairman

A special report on the society's public education activities in Ohio was presented by Dr. Melvin Hyman, Bowling Green, Ohio Division public information chairman, and James D. Cobb Jr., Cleveland, division public education director.

Featured at the luncheon meeting was Dr. Mortimer B. Lipsett, director of the Cleveland Cancer Center, and Dr Albert F. LoBuglio, deputy director of the cancer research center at Ohio State University.

Another feature of the luncheon session was the presentation of the national society's distinguished service medal and citation to Dr. Foster J. Boyd of Wilmington. Dr. Boyd has been a district trustee of the Ohio division since 1964 and is currently a member of its executive committee. Dr. Boyd is also a delegate member of the national American Cancer Society and also serves the Ohio division as chairman of its personnel committee and is immediate past chairman of the uterine task force in Ohio.

Dr. Esther B. Marting, the first woman president of the Ohio division, addressed the more than 300 volunteers attending on the accomplishments of the division in Ohio . For the third consecutive year monies raised by the Ohio division totaled over $4 million.

Death suit says water harmful

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A Duluth woman has filed a $500,000 lawsuit against the city for negligence in the distribution of its drinking water

The suit, filed on behalf of Mrs. Raymond C. Tode, said the plaintiff's husband died in August as a result of "disease caused by, or contributed by deleterious, foreign and harmful substances present in the drinking water supply of the city."

Tode died Aug. 7, 1975 and an autopsy report on his case is still pending according to Mrs. Tode's attorney, Gerald J. Brown.

County health board reviews 1976 budget

In a brief meeting Tuesday, the Fayette County Board of Health reviewed the 1975 budget and discussed possible programs for 1976

The board also approved the new kitchen facilities at the Mahan Building at the Fayette County Fairgrounds. The cooking capacity at the building has been enlarged and improved.

Dr. William Covert, county health commissioner, said the health department will just meet the budget this year. He added that total expenses had been approximately what was anticipated, but funds were transferred to make up deficits in individual areas.

A budget for family planning services during 1976 was approved by the board. It calls for a 25 per cent cut from 1975 expenditures. Although the board does not desire to curtail services, it appears state funding for the program will be reduced considerably next year

Board members indicated that there is a need for two new programs in 1976. One would deal with alcoholism in the county while the other would provide free health assessments for senior

DAYTON - The establishment of a regional preservation office at Wright State University for Champaign, Clark, Clinton, Fayette, Greene, Highland, Madison and Union counties has been announced by Dr. Eugene B. Cantelupe, dean of the college of liberal arts

The office is a joint venture of the Ohio Historical Society and the department of sociology, anthropology and social work of the university, and is being coordinated by Dr. Bennie Keel, assistant professor of anthropology.

Regional preservation is primarily concerned with archeological field reconnaissance, the analysis of artifacts, and dissemination of archeological information to the public.

Staffing the office is Michael A. Smolek, research archeologist, and a student assistant.

"We are responsible for the examination and evaluation of sites in an eight-county area east of Dayton that are endangered by construction or looting," says Smolek. "We will also work in the cooperation with the Ohio Historic Preservation Office on important sites which will be nominated to the National Register of Historic Places so that these sites can be afforded at least some legal protection."

Financial support for the office is provided on a matching basis from Wright State University and a National Park Service grant administered by the Ohio Historical Society and approved by the Ohio Historic Site Preservation Advisory Board.

Patrol sets dual probe

Highway Patrol will investigate charges of alleged criminal activities at Longview State Hospital near Cincinnati and the Columbus State Institute.

Dr. Timothy Moritz, state mental health director, said the decision for a patrol investigation was made at a meeting Tuesday with Highway Safety Director Donald L. Cook.

'The highway patrol has the primary statutory responsibility and authority to investigate alleged criminal activities on state property, including mental institutions," he said.

Moritz said his department will

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The Ohio provide all possible assistance and cooperation to the patrol in its investigation. He said the probe will be limited to possible criminal activities.

The director said he believes the investigation will be "beneficial to employes and patients in institutions by removing criminal elements which are threatening their welfare."

The decision follows release of a report on a patrol investigation of conditions at Hawthornden State Hospital near Cleveland which listed instances of patient beatings, sexual relations involving a patient and threats to nurses.

Electricity conservation pushed

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Electric companies trying to encourage conservation and ease the brunt of rate increases are experimenting with new ways of computing customers' bills. They are charging more for power in peak demand periods and are offering minimum service at a minimum price for low-income consumers.

An Associated Press spot check also showed some officials are urging an "energy stamp" program for the poor, similar to the federal food stamp project. Others advocate changing the traditional "the more you use, the less you pay" rate schedules.

The Edison Electric Institute, a trade group, said residential customers paid an average of 16.4 per cent more for At the same time, the average amount of electricity used by residential customers dropped about 2 per cent. The AP survey found that the most popular type of program to cut costs is peak-demand pricing, in use in about a

The Florida Public Service Commission recently approved a one-year test plan for Florida Power Corp. whereby 200 residential customers who volunteer for the program will be charged 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour for electricity consumed during nonpeak hours and 7.9 cents per kilowatt hour the rest of the time. The present residential rate is about 4 cents per kilowatt hour.

Peak hours under the plan are 1 to 9 p.m. from April to October and 7 to 11 a.m. and 5 to 9 p.m. the rest of the year. Company officials estimate electricity in 1974 than they did in 1973. customers who take advantage of the and average users will pay only a small new system, doing heavy electric-consuming chores like laundry in off hours, can cut bills by about one-third. Commonwealth Edison Co. and the Illinois Commerce Commission are conducting a $500,000 peak-demand program that began in June with the installation of special meters in 1,000 homes in northern Illinois. Commission staff members are collecting information on normal electricity usage and, when the new billing system begins next summer, will check consumption figures to see if there is any saving. The California Public Utilities Commission, in approving a rate increase requested by Pacific Gas & Electric Co., also okayed a changed system of billing. Residential customers who use a minimum amount of electricity will get a cut in their bills longtime firstplace standing in the weekly ratings averages after an unprecedented three-network tie the previous week.

A spokesman said, "We anticipate nothing today," adding that he didn't know if any changes would be announced soon.

Another uncertain note was sounded by CBS on Monday, which last week said its lowrated "Beacon Hill" and "Kate McShane" series would exchange time periods on Oct. 21 and 22 in hope of improving ratings.

Now, it says the change won't be made because "Beacon Hill" last week posted a slight rise in ratings and the network is encouraged.

Howard Cosell's well-publicized Saturday night variety show has suffered a similar fate in its three weeks on the air, averaging a 23 per cent share of audience since its premiere on

Other new shows which have had consistently weak ratings since the start of the season are "Three for the Road" and "Big Eddie" on CBS and ABC's "Barbary Coast" and "Mobile

On the brighter side, last week's 20 most popular shows, according to Nielsen estimates, were "All in the Family," "Maude" and "Phyllis" (CBS); "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "Six Million Dollar Man" and "Streets of San Francisco" (ABC); "Rhoda," "The Waltons" "Kojack," "Medical Center" (CBS; "Little House on the Prairie" (NBC); "Mary Tyler Moore" and "Good Times" (CBS); "Chico and the Man" (NBC); "Carol Burnett" (CBS); "Police Woman" (NBC); "Bob Newhart" and "Cannon" (CBS); and "Welcome Back, Kotter"

Coal company expands complex

CLEVELAND (AP) - Valley Camp Coal Co. has announced it will expand its coal mine complex in West Virginia to provide low sulfur coal to two Ohio utilities, Ohio Power Co. and Buckeye Power Inc.

Valley Camp officials said the project will cost $30 million and be financed through cooperation with the two utilities. A Valley Camp subsidiary, Donaldson Mine Co., will operate the mine.

The mining firm said the agreement called for it to supply two million tons of coal annually to the utilities for 25 years, with a provision for extending it to the life of the reserves.

Explosive Indians worry Miami Trace coaching staff

By PHIL LEWIS

Record-Herald Sports Editor A little less than two years ago, Hillsboro High School won its last South Central Ohio League contest taking a 28-0 decision over Madison Plains. The Indians have been looking for their next SCOL win for some time now, but it is unlikely that they will break the skein against unbeaten Miami Trace this

Nevertheless, Miami Trace mentor

Fred Zechman is wary of the Indians 'potential to explode offensively."

'On film, they look tougher than any Hillsboro team in the last three years, Zechman said, "and we think they'll be the second toughest team we've faced this season." The toughest, of course,

Hillsboro has come shifty, quick running backs to use against the Panthers which is a switch from the grind-it-out-up-the-middle

Miami Trace has been seeing in past

'(Steve) Kelch has had four touchdown runs over 50 yards and (Ken) Captain is big at a 170 or 180 pounds and he's faster than anyone we have," Zechman said.

Kelch will run from the wingback position and Captain will start at tailback.

Hillsboro coach Mike Doyle has an experienced quarterback in Tyler Woods. Although the junior signal caller hasn't lived up to preseason expectations, he is dangerous running

With the exception of the contest with Washington C.H. two weeks ago, the Indians have been in every ballgame until the final gun.

The Hillsboro defense has been much stingier this season than last when the Indians were giving up close to 30 points an outing. Last week, Doyle's 6-1 alignment, which looks much like Washington C.H.'s, held a fired-up Wilmington squad to 14 points despite the loss of honorable mention all-league lineman Steve Zink, who is out for the season with a knee injury.

Linebacker Mark Ford, who was on all-SCOL first-team pick last year, heads the defense which is tough mistakes in the secondary. This could give Panther quarterback Art Schlichter a chance to show off his passing ability which was the key to Miami Trace's win over Unioto two

Zechman's squad will be healthy for this week's trip to Hillsboro and even if they weren't the Indians would still be in trouble with the Panther depth that was displayed last week at Madison

The high-powered Miami Trace offense that has ground out over 400 yards in the last three outings will feature one minor change in personnel. Junior Brad Smith, who has started a game or two at right guard, will get the call this week in place of senior let-terman Jack James. Rex Coe will get the call at fullback despite a fine running performance by reserve Neil Spears last week.

Zechman isn't taking Hillsboro lightly and he is hoping his team doesn't either. A combination of Panther over-confidence, Hillsboro home-field advantage and the Indian's explosive offense could make his more than just a Miami Trace tuneup for Circleville next week.

Grid picker sees Oklahoma win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The Texas-Oklahoma game is so important that Darrell Royal, your basic Country & Western fan, probably doesn't even have time to listen to any good guitar pickin' this week.

This corner certainly has nothing against guitar-pickin', even indulging in a few lost chords from time to time, as Darrell can testify, but this week we, too, will stick to pickin' scores.

And there's no better place to start than with the annual Red River brouhaha in Dallas between secondranked Oklahoma and No. 5 Texas, highlight of a tasty schedule which also features three other match-ups between ranked teams - Michigan at Michigan State, West Virginia at Penn State and Oklahoma State at Missouri. Royal won 12 of the first 14 battles against his alma mater but a revolting development has taken place the last four years with Oklahoma winning 48-27, 27-0, 52-13 and 16-13. Oklahoma's Barry Switzer has never lost to Texas - or anyone else, for that matter - as a head coach, and he won't this week ... Oklahoma 28-21. Last week's count showed 53 right

West Virginia at Penn State: The last 19 years, except for a 14-14 tie in 1958, have belonged to Penn State and only three times has the Nittany Lions' margin of victory been under 10 points. They say all good things must come to an end ... or must they? Penn State 24-

Oklahoma State at Missouri: Cowboys hit the road for the first time. The road hits back ... Missouri 24-17. Ohio State at Iowa: "The players

Washington State at Southern California: It's easy to get to the L.A. Colliseum but it ain't easy to win there Southern Cal 28-14.

Kansas at Nebraska: You think Kansas doesn't remember last year's 56-0 shellacking? You think Kansas won't get beat again? Nebraska 21-7. Texas A&M at Texas Tech: Considered this for Upset Special ... very briefly. Texas A&M 27-10.

Washington at Alabama: Might be closer than you think. Then again, it

Two unlikelies shared the offensive honors — guard and a reserve fullback. The guard, Steve Waters, turned in the Panthers' highest blocking consistency rating of the season Friday and the fullback, Neil Spears, rushed for 142 yards which was a season record for a Panther back.

Rose's homer puts end to rookie hurler's mastery

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Cincinnati Reds left here with the National League title, a yearning for their first World Series victory since 1940, and a mighty compliment from Al Oliver of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"They'll go all the way. They definitely have the best team I've seen since I've been in major league baseball," said Oliver, whose eighth season ended Tuesday night when the Reds beat Pittsburgh 5-3 in 10 innings in the National League playoffs.

The Reds swept the series in three games even though Pirate rookie John Candelaria pitched superbly Tuesday night, matching a playoff record with "This is the happiest day of my life," said Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, whose club opens the World Series Saturday in Boston against the American League-winning Red Sox.

The Reds dealt Pittsburgh its final defeat about a half hour after the Red Sox swept Oakland in the AL playoff. "I'm ready to play in Fenway Park," said Cincinnati's Pete Rose, who provided the key spark in the titleclincher. It was Rose who belted a two-run homer that helped chase Candelaria in the eighth and gave Cincinnati a 3-2 lead. Then after the Pirates pulled to a 3-3 tie with a run in their frantic ninth,

Rose helped the Reds deliver their two-run knockout punch in the 10th

'I never thought it would end in three," insisted Anderson. "I always thought it would go five games, just like I said at the start.'

For a while, it looked like the 21-yearold Candelaria would give the Pirates the reprieve they needed after two convincing losses in Cincinnati.

"Candelaria was revved up and ready to go," said Joe Morgan of the

"It was probably the greatest performance by a lefty against us all year," said Rose.

Candelaria started with a flourish, striking out the first four batters he faced.

Dave Concepcion stroked a solo homer over the left field wall in the second, but that was the lone hit allowed by Candelaria over the first seven innings.

Al Oliver belted a two-run homer for the Pirates in the sixth to give Pittsburgh a 2-1 lead off Cincinnati starter

"It felt great when Ollie hit that home run," Candelaria said after the game. maintaining his usual relaxed demean-

But the feeling didn't last long, Candelaria added with a slight smile. Candelaria's undoing began in the eighth-after he struck out Ken Griffey and Cesar Geronimo to raise his total to 14. That matched the previous playoff record set by Joe Coleman of Detroit against Oakland in 1972.

But Candelaria then walked pinchhitter Merv Rettenmund on four pitches, and Rose followed with his tworun homer that landed near a Pirate 'Babushka Power' banner in the leftfield seats.

"That's why Pete Rose is the great ballplayer he is," said Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh.

The Pirates loaded the bases in their ninth on singles by Willie Stargell and Richie Zisk and a walk to Bob Robertson.

Reliever Will McEnaney then yielded another walk to pinchhitter Duffy Dyer to force in the tying run, but Rennie Stennett flied out to center to end the

The Reds put the game away with a 10th-inning push that began when Griffey beat out a two-strike bunt.

We knew he might bunt with two strikes, but he just did a perfect job with it," said Murtaugh.

Griffey took second on a balk by Pirate reliever Ramon Hernandez, moved to third on an infield out and scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Ed Armbrister.

Rose followed with a single to right and scored the final Cincinnati run on a double by Morgan. "Pete Rose is Peter Rose," said

Sparky Anderson. "When the game loses him, I just don't think we'll see another one. "Rose is something completely different. God never gifted him, but he is going to be a Hall of Famer on the first ballot.' Cincinnati reliever Pedro Borbon retired Richie Hebner, Oliver and Willie Stargell in the 10th to give the Reds their third league title in six

"It's a shame this has to come to a stop," said Stargell, "but we look forward to meeting them again, and we wish them the best in the Series."

Atlanta, Houston, San Diego and Montreal of the National League have yet to see their teams in a World Series.

Boston, with a 5-3 victory Tuesday night, swept the best-of-five playoffs in three straight and now return home to open the Wrold Series Saturday against the National League's Cincinnati Reds.

"We've won during the season on defense, and that defense won it for us in this series," declared Yastrzemski whose fielding gem in the eighth inning was the turning point of the final game.
Yaz made a diving stop of a drive by

Reggie Jackson and held him to a single instead of a double or a triple. One run did score on the play but Sal Bando was stopped at third and the next batter, Joe Rudi, hit into an inning-ending double play.

Explosive Indians worry Miami Trace coaching staff

A little less than two years ago, Hillsboro High School won its last South Central Ohio League contest taking a 28-0 decision over Madison Plains. Hillsboro coach Mike Doyle has an experienced quarterback in Tyler Woods. Although the junior signal caller hasn't lived up to preseason expectations, he is dangerous running or passing.

With the exception of the contest with Washington C.H. two weeks ago, the Indians have been in every ballgame until the final gun.

The Hillsboro defense has been much stingier this season than last when the stingier this season than last when the Indians were giving up close to 30 points an outing. Last week, Doyle's 6-1 alignment, which looks much like Washington C.H.'s, held a fired-up Wilmington squad to 14 points despite the loss of honorable mention all-league lineman Stave Zink, who is out for the lineman Steve Zink, who is out for the season with a knee injury.

Linebacker Mark Ford, who was on all-SCOL first-team pick last year, heads the defense which is tough against the run, but has made too many mistakes in the secondary. This could give Panther quarterback Art Schlichter a chance to show off his passing ability which was the key to Miami Trace's win over Unioto two

Zechman's squad will be healthy for this week's trip to Hillsboro and even if they weren't the Indians would still be in trouble with the Panther depth that was displayed last week at Madison

The high-powered Miami Trace offense that has ground out over 400 yards in the last three outings will feature one minor change in personnel. Junior Brad Smith, who has started a game or two at right guard, will get the call this week in place of senior let-terman Jack James. Rex Coe will get the call at fullback despite a fine running performance by reserve Neil Spears last week.

Zechman isn't taking Hillsboro lightly and he is hoping his team doesn't either. A combination of Panther over-confidence, Hillsboro home-field advantage and the Indian's explosive offense could make his more than just a Miami Trace tuneup for Circleville next week.

Grid picker sees Oklahoma win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The Texas-Oklahoma game is so important that Darrell Royal, your basic Country & Western fan, probably doesn't even have time to listen to any good guitar pickin' this week.

This corner certainly has nothing against guitar-pickin', even indulging in a few lost chords from time to time, as Darrell can testify, but this week we, too, will stick to pickin' scores.

And there's no better place to start than with the annual Red River brouhaha in Dallas between secondranked Oklahoma and No. 5 Texas, highlight of a tasty schedule which also features three other match-ups between ranked teams - Michigan at Michigan State, West Virginia at Penn State and Oklahoma State at Missouri.

Royal won 12 of the first 14 battles against his alma mater but a revolting development has taken place the last four years with Oklahoma winning 48-27, 27-0, 52-13 and 16-13.

Oklahoma's Barry Switzer has never lost to Texas — or anyone else, for that matter - as a head coach, and he won't this week ... Oklahoma 28-21.

Last week's count showed 53 right and 15 wrong for a percentage of .779. For the season, it's 188-82-7-.696.

Michigan at Michigan State: It's the fifth year in a row the Spartans have played Notre Dame and Michigan back-toback. The first four times they lost to both. This year they beat Notre Dame, but they'll still lose to ...

West Virginia at Penn State: The last 19 years, except for a 14-14 tie in 1958, have belonged to Penn State and only three times has the Nittany Lions' margin of victory been under 10 points. They say all good things must come to an end ... or must they? Penn State 24-

Oklahoma State at Missouri: Cowboys hit the road for the first time. The road hits back ... Missouri 24-17. Ohio State at Iowa: "The players might tend to take this one lightly, but I won't let them," says Woody Hayes, whose Buckeyes are No. 1 ... Ohio State

Washington State at Southern California: It's easy to get to the L.A. Colliseum but it ain't easy to win there Southern Cal 28-14.

Kansas at Nebraska: You think Kansas doesn't remember last year's 56-0 shellacking? You think Kansas won't get beat again? Nebraska 21-7.
Texas A&M at Texas Tech: Considered this for Upset Special ... very briefly. Texas A&M 27-10.
Washington A&M 27-10.

Washington at Alabama: Might be closer than you think. Then again, it might not ... Alabama 35-7.

Colorado at Miami, Fla.: Upset Special of the Week ... Miami 20-17. Notre Dame at North Carolina: There isn't any good time to play the Irish, particularly after they lose a toughie ... Notre Dame 30-6.

Vanderbilt at Florida: The Gators haven't forgotten last year ... Florida

Louisiana State at Tennessee: LSU won last year 20-10. This year ... Tennessee 20-10.

Brown, whose team has beaten the New Orleans Saints and the Houston Oilers in successive weeks, said "the Houston dome is run down, the playing surface is undulating," said Brown, whose Bengals are undefeated in three outings and hold down first place in the Central Division of the American Football Conference of the NFL.

Brown said that Houston "has Astroturf set down right on top of dirt rather than other surfaces used in other stadiums. "They run rodeos, horse shows and "We have been trying to avoid it," Brown said. "But, occasionally you have a mishap that gives you the confidence to know it can happen." Brown said the narrow 21-18 victory

Reds, Boston win pennants

Rose's homer puts end to rookie hurler's mastery

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Cincinnati Reds left here with the National League title, a yearning for their first World Series victory since 1940, and a mighty compliment from Al Oliver of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"They'll go all the way. They definitely have the best team I've seen since I've been in major league baseball," said Oliver, whose eighth season ended Tuesday night when the Reds beat Pittsburgh 5-3 in 10 innings in the National League playoffs.

The Reds swept the series in three games even though Pirate rookie John Candelaria pitched superbly Tuesday night, matching a playoff record with 14 strikeouts.

"This is the happiest day of my life," said Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, whose club opens the World Series Saturday in Boston against the American League-winning Red Sox.

The Reds dealt Pittsburgh its final defeat about a half hour after the Red Sox swept Oakland in the AL playoff.

"I'm ready to play in Fenway Park," said Cincinnati's Pete Rose, who provided the key spark in the title-

It was Rose who belted a two-run homer that helped chase Candelaria in the eighth and gave Cincinnati a 3-2 lead. Then after the Pirates pulled to a 3-3 tie with a run in their frantic ninth, Rose helped the Reds deliver their two-run knockout punch in the 10th. "I never thought it would end in three," insisted Anderson. "I always thought it would go five games, just like

I said at the start.' For a while, it looked like the 21-yearold Candelaria would give the Pirates the reprieve they needed after two convincing losses in Cincinnati.

"Candelaria was revved up and ready to go," said Joe Morgan of the Reds

"It was probably the greatest performance by a lefty against us all year," said Rose

Candelaria started with a flourish, striking out the first four batters he

Dave Concepcion stroked a solo homer over the left field wall in the second, but that was the lone hit allowed by Candelaria over the first seven innings

Al Oliver belted a two-run homer for the Pirates in the sixth to give Pittsburgh a 2-1 lead off Cincinnati starter

Gary Nolan.
"It felt great when Ollie hit that home run," Candelaria said after the game, maintaining his usual relaxed demean-

"But the feeling didn't last long," Candelaria added with a slight smile. Candelaria's undoing began in the eighth-after he struck out Ken Griffey and Cesar Geronimo to raise his total to 14. That matched the previous playoff record set by Joe Coleman of Detroit against Oakland in 1972.

But Candelaria then walked pinchhitter Merv Rettenmund on four pitches, and Rose followed with his tworun homer that landed near a Pirate "Babushka Power" banner in the leftfield seats.

"That's why Pete Rose is the great ballplayer he is," said Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh.

The Pirates loaded the bases in their ninth on singles by Willie Stargell and Richie Zisk and a walk to Bob

Reliever Will McEnaney then yielded another walk to pinchhitter Duffy Dyer to force in the tying run, but Rennie Stennett flied out to center to end the

The Reds put the game away with a 10th-inning push that began when Griffey beat out a two-strike bunt. We knew he might bunt with two strikes, but he just did a perfect job with it," said Murtaugh. Griffey took second on a balk by Pirate reliever Ramon Hernandez, moved to third on an infield out and scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Ed Armbrister.

Rose followed with a single to right and scored the final Cincinnati run on a double by Morgan. "Pete Rose is Peter Rose," said

Sparky Anderson. "When the game

loses him, I just don't think we'll see another one. "Rose is something completely different. God never gifted him, but he is going to be a Hall of Famer on the first ballot." Cincinnati reliever Pedro Borbon retired Richie Hebner, Oliver and Willie Stargell in the 10th to give the Reds their third league title in six

"It's a shame this has to come to a said Stargell, "but we look forward to meeting them again, and we wish them the best in the Series."

Atlanta, Houston, San Diego and Montreal of the National League have yet to see their teams in a World Series.

Boston, with a 5-3 victory Tuesday night, swept the best-of-five playoffs in three straight and now return home to open the Wrold Series Saturday against was the turning point of the final game.

Yaz made a diving stop of a drive by
Reggie Jackson and held him to a single instead of a double or a triple. One run did score on the play but Sal Bando was stopped at third and the next batter, Joe Rudi, hit into an inning-ending double play.

Sharing the credit was relief pitcher Dick Drago, who threw a fast sinker that Rudi hit on the ground.

Also, shortstop Burleson said the fact that the opening two games of the justconcluded playoffs were at Fenway had been a big aid.

The bidding:

South West North East Pass Pass 2 NT Pass Pass 4 NT 6 4 Pass Opening lead — ten of spades.

This deal occurred in an international tournament staged in Tel Aviv. The North-South cards were held by two wellknown experts; the East-West cards were held by two LOL's experiencing their first venture into the big time. South got to six hearts on the bidding shown and L.O.L. 1 led

(Little Old Ladies) who were else the 10-9-x or 10-9-7-x of spades. Declarer followed low from rather unusual lead - in most circles the ten would signify a singleton or doubleton ten, or dummy, expecting to make the slam quite easily, and L.O.L. 2 complicated the situation somewhat by playing her jack on the ten. (Actually L.O.L. 2 was trying to show a doubleton by starting a high-low signal, but South did not know this and quite naturally assumed that West started with the 10-9-7-2.)

Declarer won the spade lead with the king and tested trumps. Had he found them divided 2-2 or 3-1, he would have made the slam in comfort. But when West showed out on the king of trumps, declarer was forced to continue with his Q-J-10 in order to exhaust East of trumps.

South next led the six of spade from his hand and confidently finessed the eight on the basis that L.O.L. 1 had started with the 10-9-7-2 of spades. But L.O.L. 2 won the spade eight with the nine, triumphantly played the ace of clubs, and that marked the sad end of the affair.

So the outcome was that South was duly buried with honors the victim of an exotic Tel Aviv the ten of spades. This was a coup.

have special meaning to doctors only. They refer to the two sides of the heart. The heart has four chambers, with two auricles and two ventricles. There is one auricle and one ventricle on each side of the heart. Blood that circulates through the body, bringing vital oxygen to all its parts, is then returned to the "right heart." The "right heart" muscle now pumps this blood into the lungs to reaccumulate more oxygen.

Then the newly oxygenated blood enters the chambers of the "left heart," which again pumps the blood to all the distant parts of the body.

"Left heart failure" simply means that the muscle of the left side of the heart, or ventricle, is not strong enough to adequately pump blood.

This results in a damming back of the blood and in-

Three men arrested in school burglary and charged with breaking and entering by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said Jerry Davis, 28, Rt. 3, Washington C.H., Robert W. Hiser, 20, of Milledgeville, and Richard Ratliff, 19, Rt. 3, Sabina, were charged by Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks following an investigation into the Sept. 25 burglary of Jasper Elementary School in Milledgeville.

The three were taken into custody late Tuesday afternoon following the completion of the investigation.

Thompson said Ratliff and Hiser are being held under $2,500 bond in the Fayette County jail and Davis is in custody in the Adams County jail in Three area men have been arrested West Union on another charge and will be returned to Fayette County to face the breaking and entering charge.

During the investigation, sheriff's deputies recovered several hundred dollars worth of cameras, recording equipment, field glasses and other items that had been stolen from the elementary school building.

According to the report, intruders gained access to the school building by breaking a window.

The three men were scheduled to appear in Washington C.H. Municipal Court on the burglary charges today.

the damage of a fence belonging to John A. Fetters, 3528 Creek Road. An unidentified driver traveled left of center into the fence on Creek Road, nine-tenths of a mile south of Flakes Ford Road, sheriff's deputies reported.

A pickup truck driven by Wilbur A. Anders, 61, Milledgeville, and a car driven by Helen J. Bernard, 44, New Vienna, collided at the intersection of Snowhill and Miami Trace roads at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. Sheriff's deputies estimated severe damage to the Bernard auto and moderate damage to the Anders truck. Anders was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Ohio Bell practices under fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - A legislative committee studying Ohio's utility rate making procedures has yielded to the U.S. Justice Department with regard to unfair competitive practice charges against Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, said Tuesday that the department's antitrust division requested a transcript of testimony containing the allegations. The testimony was given to the Joint Select Committee on Energy during hearings two weeks ago by a former Ohio Bell employe.

"It's out of purview," said Carney, who heads the select committee. He said he was abiding by the request, along with a similar one from Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, although Brown apparently wanted the transcript for other reasons.

James L. Cotesworth, the former employe who now works for a Cleveland-based distributor of private telephone equipment, charged in his committee testimony that Ohio Bell discriminatory "illegal, schemes" to try to drive private suppliers out of the market.

Responding to Cotesworth's testimony a week ago, Donald W. Cotesworth's Morrison, vice president and general counsel for Ohio Bell, denied the charges. He said the company is competing fairly and legally with private suppliers of equipment such as switchboards, stylized telephones, and answering devices.

Firemen answer

four fire calls

Four fires, one of them a false alarm, were reported by Washington C.H. firemen today.

Firemen received a fire signal from K-Mart, 1650 Columbus Avenue, at 1:22 p.m. Tuesday, but it turned out to be a false alarm due to a malfunctioning warning device. The building is Building permits okayed by solons

BLOOMINGBURG Bloomingburg Bloomingburg village council authorized four building permits in a council brief meeting Tuesday.

James Shoaf had requested permission to construct a storage building at his home on Biddle Boulevard.

Jefferson Mahorney, 16 Main St., also received approval to erect a storage building.

James Greene, 31 Lincoln St., will add a family room to his home, and Terry Butcher is planning to construct a utility shed and a two-car garage at his home on Wayne Street.

Council also received a report of the state audit of village records over the past two years. The books were said to be in good order.

The only other matter of business was authorizing payment of routine bills in the amount of $1,579.
